

July Blog Update

This month I have managed to sail on a barge and a smack for the first time. Out on the smack Sallie, I got my first view of the Blackwater River past Northey Point (the point of an island and next to Maldon which obscures the view of the rest of the black water).

July Blog Update

